

You'd think in the 250 or so folks I've asked to describe the Bible in jus2words I'd have had a large number of them saying ...

Jesus Christ

But you'd be wrong. So far I've only had 2. That's just a 1% average. The guy who gave these 2 words to me seemed surprised at this statistic.

In fact, I think he might have been pleasantly surprised by our exchange.

“Have you ever seen Bigfoot?” He asked me.

“No. I just wear this Bigfoot t-shirt for my brother.”

“Do you want these books?” He held up one pocket sized book about Yoga and a standard sized book about self realization.

I immediately thought of an exchange.

I take his books and I’d ask him for his 2 words.

“Yes, I’ll take the books.”

As I reached for them he pulled them back and said I’d have to give a donation if I was to have them. I gave him $5.

Then I told him I'm writing a book about what people thought of the Bible in their own words.

"Just 2 words?"

"Yup."

He answered in lightning fast speech ...

"Surrender your life to Jesus Christ!"

"Can you narrow that down to jus2words?"

"Jesus Christ!" He said in the same high speed speech.

Then I told him the stat about how he's only the 2nd person in 250 to say that. He really thought that was interesting. As if GOD was up to something. Maybe He was even telling us something?

What might His message be?

“And when I am lifted up from the earth, I will draw everyone to Myself.”

John 12:32 NLT

Jesus was indeed “up” to something.
