

I bought a couple of rocks at a local art festival. I was in the youth section where artists were selling their work.

I like to stack rocks. My mind tends to imagine stacking them and wonder how high I could go.

So when I saw some “prayer rocks” in a basket I got excited to buy one. Each rock had a symbol on it. I picked out one with a yellow cross. Yellow was my Dad’s favorite color, and I love what the cross represents!

But then I saw another basket of rocks for sale. The sign on that basket read “worry rocks.” Oddly, they were the same price as the prayer rocks.

“Excuse me. What’s the difference between a prayer rock and a worry rock?”

Without hesitation the young lady gave me the following answer ...

“I don’t know.”

So I bought both kinds of rocks since it was a mystery.

I like mysteries.

“This message was kept secret for centuries and generations past, but now it has been revealed to God’s people. For God wanted them to know that the riches and glory of Christ are for you Gentiles, too.

And this is the secret: Christ lives in you. This gives you assurance of sharing his glory.”

Colossians 1:26 NLT

The “worry rock” had a smiley face on it.
I’m still trying to figure that one out :)

You got any ideas?

Email them to dj@jus2words.com